- There was also a district

- 12 Q. What's the difference between the
- 13 two positions?
- 14 The district manager at Rite Aid
- ¹⁵ at that point in time had the overall

- 24 Q. Just to be clear, what

- ¹ back then, we had a report, a paper report called
 - ² the Above Average report. And as a pharmacy
 - ³ district manager, it would be our responsibility
 - 4 to follow up on those and respond back.
 - Q. What information was captured in
 - the Above Average report?
 - The report, as I remember it
 - being constructed, would have like a store number
 - and a particular kind of prescription at that
 - store where, you know, the ordered amount
 - compared to -- I'm not sure how it worked exactly
 - at that time, but like the dispensed amount, you
- 13 know, was something that they wanted to be looked

- 21 mean, at that point in time, I received,

words, but let me -- I think I can still answer the question, though.

So if a particular store was blocked on a particular base code and the store

⁵ sends an email or calls their PDM and says, hey,

⁶ you know, something's wrong here, I just tried to

⁷ order this product and I have got a notation that

⁸ I can't order it, that I'm being blocked.

The pharmacy district manager
 then would basically determine or gauge, okay, what -- you know, why is this being blocked.

12 Hopefully they're familiar with the program. If 13 not, they would probably call out and ask.

And then they would, you know, take a look at or inquire of the pharmacist or the store, you know, okay, you know, what's -what's driving this need? Did you have a, you know, a recent pour over, you know, they could

¹⁹ evaluate whether, you know, there's significant

²⁰ organic growth.

That's why I was talking about the business reasons, part of this. There's a

²³ number of different business reasons that

²⁴ would -- would drive those things.

Page 55

24

Q. You used the term "pour over."
What do you mean by that?

A. Okay. So a pour over is kind of an industry accepted term. And basically what a pour over is is when an existing pharmacy closes

6 down or is going to go out of business, whether

⁷ it's a chain or an independent, for obvious

⁸ reasons, it can't just like close and shutter its

⁹ doors and the people that, you know, have prescriptions there are basically stuck withnowhere to go.

So what happens is those existing prescriptions, those -- those files, those patient records basically get acquired by another pharmacy. So a pour over is where one pharmacy is basically acquiring the business, the pharmacy business of an existing pharmacy that is closing down.

Q. And what are some of the things that would drive significant growth in the prescriptions that a pharmacy would be 22 experiencing?

A. There's a number of them. I would say there's -- organic growth would be one example. So, for instance, when I first moved

² into the town I grew up in, it was one square

³ mile, with a very small population. Ten years

⁴ later, it's gigantic with a huge -- you know,

⁵ much, much larger population. New businesses,

6 new providers. You know, if a new hospital opens

⁷ up next to the pharmacy or an existing hospital

8 now opens a cancer unit.

We talked about pour overs and file buys. That's a -- that's certainly a big one. Reasons like that.

Q. You mentioned another name or another term, "file buy." What is that? And that's B-U-Y?

A. It is. And actually, file buy is really just another name for a pour over. I shouldn't have caused confusion there, because that's really the same thing. It's just -- some people call it file buy, some people call it a pour over.

Q. So a file buy, in this instance, would be one pharmacy buying the business from another pharmacy; is that right?

A. Yes. It's the same thing I

Q. So in the process that you outlined, if the pharmacy district manager finds

⁴ out that one of the pharmacies he or she is

⁵ managing has a need to increase its threshold,

6 the process first is that they contact that

⁷ pharmacy and understand what the reason is for that threshold increase; is that right?

MR. LAVELLE: Object to form.

THE WITNESS: That's generally correct, because they're going to have to provide that reason when they respond.

13 BY MR. SIMMER:

Q. As part of doing that due diligence to determine whether to increase the threshold, do I have it right that the district manager would need to go look at the dispensing data from the pharmacy?

A. I don't think that's correct in all cases, no. Certainly in some maybe, but not in all cases.

Q. Is there any part of the process along the way to get it sent up to McKesson that there's an examination of the prescribing data to Page 58 ¹ determine what's driving the need? ¹ confirm if that was in fact true, if there had A. I would say dispensing data. But ² been a break-in. ³ again, not in every instance. Every instance is And similarly, if they indicated 4 unique. So, for example, if one of our locations 4 that there was a pour over, I could confirm that ⁵ was broken into at night and a significant there was in fact a recent pour over or not, ⁶ quantity of the drugs were stolen in a nighttime so -- but it varied situation by situation. ⁷ break-in, I don't -- and they were getting What were the sources of data O. 8 blocked by McKesson on getting product in to take that you referred to? 9 care of their customers, I don't know in that A. Well, in the example I gave you, 10 case as an example there would be a need to, you the source of data would be like their script 11 know, necessarily dive into prescriber data, as count, sales data, script count. 12 you described it. You know what happened that's 12 What is the name of the database O. ¹³ driving the increase. where that sales data is housed? 14 14 So for the pharmacy district MR. LAVELLE: Object to form. 15 15 manager then to come to you and say that one of THE WITNESS: So we have a 16 16 my pharmacies needs an increase, is that all mainframe system, so I don't want to try handled via email or is there some other way that 17 and get too techy here, but we sort of that request is handled? 18 have a proprietary mainframe system. 19 19 MR. Today, 21 21 how that was handled, yes. for example, most of that access is 22 22 BY MR. SIMMER: through portal applications. If you go 23 23 And once you get that information back to like my third-party days, most of 24 ²⁴ from a pharmacy district manager -- strike that. that would have been through what we Page 59 Page 61 1 called green screen applications. And you referred to that a moment 12 ago I think as KPI; is that right?

- A. Yes. KPI is short for key performance indicator.
- 15 Tell us in your own words what 16 key performance indicators means.
- 17 So a key performance indicator would be a particular attribute or action or ¹⁹ activity that could be pulled into NaviStor or ²⁰ NaviScript that would be useful in terms of ²¹ detecting theft, detecting procedural abuses, ²² detecting policy violations of different sorts or ²³ nature, so...
 - I think we understand what you O.

¹ be -- these key performance indicators could be

- ² used to detect policy violations of different
- ³ sorts or nature.
 - And what do you mean by that?
 - A. So there are lots of policies
- 6 relative to things you can or cannot do at the ⁷ cash register, price modifies, voids, things like
- ⁸ that.
- So, you know, an example there would be -- let's say you had a cashier that was
- sweethearting merchandise to a customer, meaning
- basically not charging them for it. They could
- be doing that by voiding certain items in the
- transaction. And utilizing NaviStor, you could
- see that maybe you had a particular cashier at a
- particular store voiding lots of merchandise,
- which would allow you to look into that and say,
- okay, we might have an issue here.
- Q. Now, in the context of the DEA's concerns about controlled drug diversion, how
- were these key performance indicators used?
- So that's really NaviScript. And
- ²³ it evolved. So NaviScript got better and better
 - and better as we added more KPIs and, you know,

- 1 mean by a theft, but why don't you go ahead and ² say it again, what you mean when you reference
- ³ theft.

13

14

- 4 What is that?
 - MR. LAVELLE: Object to form.
 - THE WITNESS: So theft would be a loss of product or inventory that would
- 8 result in shrink. So when you -- when 9 the books say you have this amount or
- 10 dollar amount, and the physical inventory 11 reveals that you don't, the difference
- 12 between the two is shrink.
- 13 BY MR. SIMMER:
- 14 Q. You also say that the key performance indicators would be used to detect 16 procedural abuses. 17
 - What do you mean by that?
- 18 An example -- a procedural abuse 19 would be where something, you know, might be ²⁰ allowable to a certain degree, but, you know, you
- 21 can see from the KPI that it's being used more
- ²² than it should be. Coupon abuse would be an
- 23 example. 24
 - Q. Finally you said that they could

- But key performance indicators,
- ³ like cycle counts down, order adjustments, DSD
- ⁴ orders through telestock, you know, these are all
- ⁵ examples of KPIs that could be indicative of drug
- losses at a store.

12

13

16

17

19

- O. Again, I think you're talking
- about shrinkage, though. Right?
- MR. LAVELLE: Object to form.
- 10 THE WITNESS: It is shrinkage,
- 11 but it's certainly also drug diversion,
 - which is what you asked.
 - BY MR. SIMMER:
- 14 Q. Well, let me go through that and 15 make sure I understand.
 - You said cycle counts down.
 - How does that key performance
 - indicator indicate potential diversion?
- Okay. So in the pharmacy like
- the front end, there is an inventory -- PI, a
- perpetual inventory system. So the system should
- 22 know exactly how much of a given product -- and
- 23 this is true in the front end or the pharmacy --
- ²⁴ how much of a given product that store has. So a

Page 162

- ¹ thief could, for example, realize that if the
- ² thief stole X number of product off the shelf,
- ³ that now is going to indicate that there's -- you
- 4 know, there's only one there instead of three,
- ⁵ which means, you know, product is not going to
- ⁶ come in, inventory is not going to be accurate.
- So in order to potentially try to
- 8 hide or mask their theft, what they might do is
- ⁹ cycle count the product down to where now the
- 10 system says there's one on the shelf, even though
- 11 you just stole two. So...
- Q. In that instance, this -- you're
- 13 concerned about a Rite Aid employee actually
- ¹⁴ altering the system to make that cycle count
- 15 down. Am I right?
- A. Yes. That would be indicative of
- ¹⁷ internal theft.
- Q. You also mentioned order
- ¹⁹ adjustments as being a key performance indicator
- ²⁰ of diversion.
- Tell us what you mean by that.
- A. So the way the inventory
- ²³ replenishment system would work is the system
- ²⁴ would basically use your usage and the on-hand

- Page 164
- ¹ down. And an adjustment up or adjustments up
- ² could be -- could be indicative of internal
- ³ theft.
 - Q. Again, this is an indication of
- ⁵ internal theft only. Right?
- A. Yes.
 - Q. It would not be indicative of any
- 8 inappropriate prescribing, for example. Right?
- 9 A. Neither of those two KPIs would
- 10 be indicative of that.
- Q. Were there any KPIs that the
- 12 company used to identify inappropriate
- prescribing?
- A. I can't see -- again, I wasn't in
- this department the entire time, but I cannot see
- 16 how any NaviStor or NaviScript KPI would be able
- ¹⁷ to do that.

- ¹ numbers to determine what the order should be.
- So in the old days of pharmacy,
- ³ you would have to basically walk the shelves and,
- ⁴ you know, I want two of this, I want one of this.
 - With a replenishment system, the
- ⁶ system knows what you dispensed, it knows what
- ⁷ you transferred, returned, those things we talked
- 8 about. And it knows what you're supposed to have
- ⁹ on hand.
- So the system builds the order
- 11 for you. And, you know, that's -- that's sort of
- 12 a suggested order. But both in the front end and
- 13 the pharmacy, you have the ability to adjust
- 14 orders.
- So a good example -- a good front
- ¹⁶ end example would be, I know that in an upcoming
- ¹⁷ ad, Tylenol PM is on sale. And the system only
- wants to sell me -- you know, give me four of
- 19 these, but, you know, I know that I'll have
- 20 customers wanting Tylenol PM, so I'm going to
- ²¹ adjust it from 4 to 10, or something like that.
- Similar in the pharmacy, the
- 23 order is going to be generated. The pharmacist
- ²⁴ would have the chance to adjust that order up or
